Japan Troops Alerted To Protect Ike

Police Stage Raids To Round Up Leaders Of Pro-Red Rioters

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese security officials are alerting troops of Japan's new army to back up police in case violence flares during President Eisenhower's visit.

A Defense Board spokesman said a 2,000-man regiment had been placed on alert and a division of 15,000 stationed in Tokyo could be rushed up if the situation warranted.

The spokesman stressed that responsibility for guarding Eisenhower rests with a 25,000-man police force to be mobilized against leftist demonstrations expected when Eisenhower arrives Sunday.

Violence accompanied police raids on union and student headquarters in search of leaders of Friday's Communist-sparked mob attack against White House press secretary James C. Hagerty's car.

In a series of pre-dawn raids, police rounded up five officials of a leftist labor union and seized evidence after searching a factory in Kawasaki, south of the capital, and headquarters of the Zengakuren student federation on two Tokyo campuses.

Zengakuren students tried to repel the police with rocks and staves. Eleven policemen were reported injured, but no students were arrested.

Major non-Communist leftist organizations were reported considering abandoning plans for a large-scale demonstration at the airport, although it appeared likely they would demonstrate elsewhere during the President's visit against the U.S.-Japan security treaty and Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government.

If Khrush Hadn't Wrecked Summit, U.S. Policies Would Have--Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today that if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hadn't wrecked the summit conference it would have foundered on what he called obsolete U.S. policies.

Kennedy, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said that if the presidential campaign turns on the issue of who best can stand up to Khrushchev, the American people will lose, no matter who wins in November.

His prepared Senate speech coupled a series of foreign policy suggestions of his own with a slashing attack on President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable GOP presidential nominee.

It obviously was intended both to reply to his Republican critics and to counter implications by some supporters of rival Democratic aspirants that Kennedy at 43 is too young and inexperienced to negotiate with Khrushchev.

Kennedy said the American delegation headed by Eisenhower went to the Paris summit meeting with "no fresh ideas" and only "obsolete policies and meaningless slogans."

"Our conferees have consistently gone to the international bargaining table ill-staffed, ill-prepared and ill-advised," he said. "Coordinate efforts — with all agencies and all allies — have faltered without strong direction from the top; and strong direction from the top has often faltered because the President has not been kept fully informed."

Because of this, the Massachusetts senator said, it was "fortunate that the violent manner in which the Soviets carried out their determination to wreck the summit made it clear to the world that the blame for the collapse of the conference rests on Mr. Khrushchev."

"Our allies and our own people had been misled into believing there was some point to holding the summit conference — that we were prepared to pay more than what changes in the status quo we would not accept — that by a miracle of personal charm and public relations the Russians could be cajoled into yielding some of their hard-won positions of strength—that we had some conception of alternative settlements that were both acceptable to us and possibly acceptable to the Soviets," Kennedy said.

"But the truth of the matter is that we were not prepared for any such negotiations—that there was no real success which the summit could have achieved."

Kennedy struck back at Nixon's contention that Nixon, among the candidates of both parties, is best qualified by experience and toughness to negotiate with Khrushchev.

"The issue is not who can best 'stand up to Khrushchev,' who can best swap threats and insults — the real issue is who can best stand up and summon America's vast resources to the defense of freedom against the most dangerous threat it ever faced," he said.

Kennedy said that "neither Camp David talks nor kitchen debates" will compel Khrushchev to enter fruitful negotiations. He said only a rebuilding of American military strength will convince the Soviet Premier that time is not on his side and that a peaceful settlement is essential to mutual survival.

Among other things, he said the United States must have "hidden, moving or invulnerable weapons" to give it the world's greatest nuclear striking power. Along with this he said this country must regain the ability to intervene in any limited war anywhere in the world.

He called for rebuilding NATO "into a viable and consolidated military force."

Kennedy proposed "an entirely revamped foreign aid program" geared to long-term commitments to help feed and give economic aid to underdeveloped countries. He said steps must be taken to make Latin American nations full partners in Western Hemisphere development.

Calling for a new approach to Middle East problems, Kennedy said measures must be taken to "hasten the inevitable Arab acceptance of the permanence of Israel." He said U.S. policies must recognize "the inevitable triumph of nationalism in Africa."

Giant Tribute Is Paid to U.S. President

Welcome from Manila Perhaps Greatest Ever Given Chief

MANILA (AP)—A joyous, singing, almost uncontrollable mass of Filipinos today nearly overwhelmed President Eisenhower with an ecstatic welcome.

This land which the United States set free only 14 years ago gave Eisenhower perhaps the greatest tribute he has ever received overseas. One and a half million or more roared their acclaim along a flag-bedecked route showering Eisenhower with a near blizzard of pastel confetti and even paper boxes.

The crowd rivaled the nearly hysterical turnout of Indians who welcomed Eisenhower to New Delhi last December.

Sometimes surging out of control, the tide of humanity slowed his parade to a walk as they jammed to within inches of the open car. He rode beside Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia from the airport to downtown Manila, 10 miles.

Acrid fumes from the slow-moving cars occasionally brought tears to Eisenhower's eyes. Filipino and American security agents strained to clear a path in humid 85-degree heat. One enthusiastic well-wisher tried to climb on the hood of the automobile. Police hustled him away.

U. E. Baughman, head of the U. S. Secret Service, estimated the crowd at 1½ million. The Philippine press secretary, Jose P. Nable, said police and military officials set the total at three million—1½ million in Manila alone.

Dripping with perspiration, Eisenhower flashed his famous grin at the crowds. They smiled and waved back at him with affection for a home town boy made good—the young Army officer who served here in the '30s and later became president. The display was unequalled in the islands' history.

The tone of the popular greeting was obvious from the moment Eisenhower landed at the airport after a long, tiring flight from Alaska via Wake Island.

Garcia—despite political pressures that sometimes make it expedient to strike an unfriendly pose toward America—was unstinting in his praise of Eisenhower and the United States as leaders of the free world in a quest for peace.

Garcia said the Philippines "is and will ever be the staunch friend and ally of the United States." He praised Eisenhower for his "patient, passionate and unrelenting quest for permanent and just world peace."

Eisenhower, referring to disputes between the United States and its former colony over war claims and trade relations, replied that "no petty difference can ever tear apart" the bonds of friendship between the two countries.

In a personal note, Eisenhower also conveyed good wishes from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who led American forces back to the Philippines in World War II. Eisenhower served under MacArthur as staff aide in the Philippines when MacArthur was military adviser to the Philippine army before the war.

The two presidents, sitting side by side in a long convertible, headed into the city. The route wound through tree-lined residential areas and the bustling, modern heart of Manila rebuilt from the destruction of World War II.

The crowds were packed 10 and 15 deep in some places. Humidity made it like a steam bath for many along the route. But this put no check on their high spirits.

Senate Panel OKs New Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today approved a $1,381,500,000 omnibus housing bill after cutting out 200 million dollars.

The cuts eliminated some features objectionable to the Eisenhower administration but still left the measure far beyond what the President recommended.

The cuts chopped 150 million off 300 million voted for the housing subcommittee for direct loans to veterans, and 50 million off the 120 million proposed for farm housing.

U.S. Spy-Pilot Reports He Is 'Treated Well' by Reds

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—The wife of an American flier imprisoned in the Soviet Union on spy charges said today he had written her that he is being treated well.

Barbara Gay Powers, 25, said she received the letter May 31 from Francis Gary Powers, 30, in regular mail. It was postmarked May 26 in Moscow.

Dr. James Baugh, Mrs. Powers' physician, read her statement at a news conference at Milledgeville where she is staying at the home of her mother, Monteen Brown.

Mrs. Powers was not present at the conference.

Hiking British Medic Shrugs At Injuries

BRAZIL, Ind. (AP)—State police and Dr. Barbara Moore differed slightly today on how it happened, but the 56-year-old British veterinarian was more interested in hitting the road than in discussing her mishap.

The Russian-born physician said the "big American car" bumped her "just at the wrong moment," interrupting her cross-country hike Monday as she strode toward Indianapolis from the Illinois-Indiana border.

Dr. Moore said she was hit without warning while walking next to the grass divider strip on U.S. 40. State police said she steered off the grass and into the path of the car driven by Elizabeth M. Kline, 67, of Shamokin, Pa. All agreed the slowly moving car caused a painfully bruised back and a swollen left ankle.

Although she has no chance of breaking the cross-country walking record, Dr. Moore spoke anxiously of resuming her California to New York trek as soon as possible if, for no other reason, than to hurry down under for her cross-Australia march, "And Canada after that."

Dr. Moore planned to be on her way "sooner than you think." She said her vegetarian diet of more than 40 years had quickened her recuperative powers, and that she might walk "day and night" over the last 700 plus miles of the trip which started 62 days ago in San Francisco.

Clubwomen Hear From Ike, Eleanor

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent word to the general federation of women's clubs that "the challenge of tomorrow must arouse all of our energy and determination today."

The President, who is in the Far East on a goodwill tour, left behind a message of greeting for the federation, which opens business sessions of its 69th annual convention today.

As a convention prelude, the 3,000 delegates attended a "Salute to Women" banquet, honoring six outstanding women.

Heading the list was Eleanor Roosevelt, honored for outstanding contributions in the field of human relations.

Union Voting At Missile Site

Result Could Ease Industry's Troubles

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Machinists today were voting on an offer by Convair that could ease the missile industry's labor troubles, as strike deadlines neared for 50,000 other workers.

The International Assn. of Machinists began polling 30,000 members Monday night on an offer that involves field wage rates, per diem pay, relation benefits and seniority at Atlas missile bases struck eight days ago.

The strike, stretching from Cape Canaveral in Florida to California's Vandenberg Air Force Base, has tied up the sites that test and fire the mighty Atlas—the United States' only operational intercontinental missile.

IAM spokesmen said, however, that the supplemental offer by Convair concerns only the outside missile sites and does not affect all of Convair's 27,000 employees.

Voting was being conducted at Vandenberg, 165 miles north of Los Angeles; Edwards AFB, Calif.; Cape Canaveral; Offutt AFB, Neb., and Warren AFB, Wyo.

Negotiators continued to meet on an around-the-clock basis in San Diego.

In San Diego the Engineers and Architects Assn. staged a walk-out Monday, causing a heavy traffic jam outside the Convair plant.

The EAA said the strike was 80 per cent effective and that 10 per cent of the machinists respected the picket lines despite an IAM directive that they cross the lines because "the company is getting down to serious negotiating."

The Engineers and Architects Assn. said it plans a walkout every Monday until their wage dispute is settled.

Pay scales in the affected plants range from $1.65 an hour for machinists to $1,000 a month for engineers. The unions seek various fringe benefits and pay hikes ranging from 14 cents an hour from machinists to $65 a month for engineers.

3 Anti-Castroites Sentenced To Die

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—A Cuban military tribunal today sentenced insurgent ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton, 30, and two accomplices to death for crimes against the state.

Ordered executed with Beaton were his brother, Cipriano, and Felipe Martinez.

Ex-Boxing King Confesses His Losing Bout Was Fixed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jake LaMotta, former middleweight boxing champion, swore today his 1947 losing bout with Billy Fox was a fixed affair, but repudiated a statement naming the alleged fixers.

LaMotta told Senate investigators he was offered $100,000 to lose the fight, but rejected the cash and agreed to throw it in exchange for a guaranteed shot at the middleweight title.

He said he had suffered a spleen injury in training and thought he probably couldn't win anyway.

LaMotta was confronted then with a statement he had signed last May 11, naming Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Bill Daly as the men he was told had offered the $100,000, and Thomas Milo as the man he believed had handled the title guarantee bribe.

Perspiring profusely, LaMotta said he was mistaken when he gave that statement to investigators for the Senate Antitrust subcommittee.

The statement was placed into the record of the subcommittee's inquiry into monopoly in professional boxing.

In it, LaMotta said his brother, Joseph, had handled the bribe negotiations.

LaMotta said further that his best recollection was that Joe LaMotta had informed him that Palermo and Daly had offered $100,000 if he would lose to Fox.

When LaMotta clung despite prolonged questioning to his repudiation of the statement, Rand Dixon, subcommittee counsel, suggested that perhaps LaMotta feared reprisals.

"I'm not afraid of none of them bums," LaMotta said.

Asked whether he was afraid for his brother Joey, LaMotta replied: "I'm not afraid of none of them rats."

Things Get Rough in Russia For Americans, Ohioan Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The freeze is on" for Americans in Russia, says an American businessman who had an office in Moscow for many months.

And one thing frozen out was the Rand Development Corp., said H. James Rand III.

Rand's Moscow office was closed well before the U2 spy plane incident of May 1. It was closed in January and his furniture was put in storage by the Russians, the Cleveland scientist-businessman said in an interview Monday.

"They said they needed the space. It was only two rooms in the Sovietski Hotel, with one stenographer in it," Rand noted.

But the big freeze, he said, came after the U2 incident.

Youth Shuns Legion Award

Honor Student Lacks Respect for Policies

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—A high school honor pupil was the center of a community uproar today because of his refusal to accept a citizenship award from the local American Legion post.

The youth, Stephen Bayne, 17, said he rejected the award because he cannot respect Legion policies. He did not outline his feelings in greater detail.

Bayne shocked an audience of nearly 1,000 classmates, parents, school officials and others during senior awards ceremonies last Friday in this Long Island community.

The local post's Americanism chairman announced that the boy would receive a gold pin as a citizenship award.

Bayne, who is president of the school's student organization—quickly arose and said: "Wait! I refuse to accept an award from an organization whose policies I can't respect."

School officials apologized for his action and said an official letter of apology would be sent to the post. Principal John W. Keckham said he was "highly in disfavor of the manner in which the honor was refused."

The boy failed to return to his classes Monday and his mother, Mrs. Robert Bayne, said he had taken a 10-day vacation. The boy is due to graduate June 26.

Bayne also received several departmental awards for academic achievement and is among the top 10 in his class. He has received a scholarship to Harvard.

Surgeons Keep Close Tab on Anxiety Signs

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—When a patient about to undergo surgery tells his doctor he knows he's going to die, what does the doctor do?

Many doctors put off the operation until the patient's feelings improve, a Marquette University psychiatrist said today.

Some evidence indicates a link between the mental and emotional state of the patient and surgical death, Dr. Eugene S. Turrell of Milwaukee told the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

Strong feelings of helplessness may greatly excite the nervous system contributing to sudden death, Turrell said.

"If the patient does express such feelings that he is going to die, an attempt should be made to understand these feelings and work them through prior to surgery," he added.

After the operation, depression and anxiety seem to slow the healing process. One researcher reported that highly anxious cancer patients lived shorter periods than did cancer patients with low anxiety.

Perhaps anxiety robs the body of energy needed to defend against disease, Turrell said.

Engineer Sets Pace for Own Heartbeat

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Carl Barker, 38, an engineer, sets his own heartbeat by an electronic pacemaker.

Barker explained today how he has obtained a new lease on life with the aid of the electronic gadget installed in January by a team of University of Minnesota surgeons.

Barker, father of four children, said he had suffered several heart attacks and his heart beat had slowed to about 20 beats per minute. The attacks finally forced him to quit work last fall.

He heard about the pacemaker developed at Minnesota and went here to consult Dr. C. K. Walton Lillehei, famed for his open heart surgery.

The Minnesota surgeons developed a pacemaker for Barker and he was able to return to work this spring.

The pacemaker he uses is a transistorized package. It has an eight inch special steel wire leading through Barker's chest to the heart where it is attached in two places to the ventricular muscle.

With a simple dial, Barker regulates the electrical stimuli to cause his heart to beat at the rate of 80 to 85 beats per minute during the day. At night he slows his heart beat to about 60 beats per minute. He experiences no feeling from these small electrical shocks but keeps tab on his heart by means of a flashing light on the pacemaker.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The July 1 deadline for community health clinics and guidance centers to make their staff salaries conform to state pay schedules has been extended to Jan. 1. tors for the Senate Antitrust subcommittee.

The statement was placed into the record of the subcommittee's inquiry into monopoly in professional boxing.

In it, LaMotta said his brother, Joseph, had handled the bribe negotiations.

LaMotta said further that his best recollection was that Joe LaMotta had informed him that Palermo and Daly had offered $100,000 if he would lose to Fox.

When LaMotta clung despite prolonged questioning to his repudiation of the statement, Rand Dixon, subcommittee counsel, suggested that perhaps LaMotta feared reprisals.

"I'm not afraid of none of them," LaMotta said.

Asked whether he was afraid for his brother Joey, LaMotta replied:

"I'm not afraid of none of them rats."

Things Get Rough in Russia For Americans, Ohioan Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The freeze is on" for Americans in Russia, says an American businessman who had an office in Moscow for many months.

And one thing frozen out was the Rand Development Corp., said H. James Rand III.

Rand's Moscow office was closed well before the U2 spy plane incident of May 1. It was closed in January and its furniture was put in storage by the Russians, the Cleveland scientist-businessman said in an interview Monday.

"They said they needed the space. It was only two rooms in the Sovetskii Hotel, with one stenographer in it," Rand noted.

But the big freeze, he said, came after the U2 incident.

"People there are all shook up," said Rand. "A United States plane downed on their soil! They asked me very nervous kinds of questions."

"What's going on? Is there going to be war? Why are you doing this?"

He said "top people"—heads of scientific institutes—"were asking me these things."

"They don't know how to interpret this thing," Rand added.

Rand, who has just returned from Moscow, has been trying to get the Russians to take out U.S. patents on several devices, including a sleep-inducing electric pulse generator he says would be very useful in surgery on patients to whom anaesthetic drugs are dangerous. Once the Russians took out U.S. patents, Rand would buy the patents and market the Soviet products here.

"But it's impossible to do anything now," he declared. All his Russian contracts are terminated.

A former Rand employee, Robert E. Webster, surrendered his American citizenship last year but now wants to return from Russia.

"He's homesick," said Rand, who talked with Webster by telephone before returning. "Things are getting rough over there for Americans."

Webster has applied for an emigrant visa, and his father is sending affidavits that he will sponsor him and support him, Rand said. Although Webster must come to this country on the Russian immigrant quota, "he'll get a priority on account of having a family here," Rand commented.

Webster, 31, was sent to Moscow by the Cleveland firm to work in the Rand exhibit at the American fair in Moscow. He left a wife and two children behind when he decided to stay in Moscow. Rand said Webster has not married the Russian restaurant hostess he was seeing there.

300,000 Russian Spies Said on Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—"The Soviet Union," says Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, "has built the largest of all intelligence machines and maintains an unparalleled network of agents throughout the world."

Herter said, "It has been reliably estimated that within the Communist bloc and the free world some 300,000 trained officers serve in the 27 intelligence and security services of the Soviet bloc states."

Herter gave those figures Monday in a 23-page statement filed with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which will meet later this week to consider a report on its recent investigation of the U2 spy plane incident.

Lightning Kills Boy

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Two Dayton boys were struck by lightning Monday as they stood under a tree in a school yard seeking shelter from the rain. One, James Cooper, 13, was killed. The other, Earl Goodall, 12, was reported in critical condition in a hospital.

Specialists want Parliament dissolved automatically nullifying ratification of the treaty, so an election campaign can be fought with the treaty as the main issue.

A top security official said, if the Socialists decide not to demonstrate against the President's arrival, the police will have no great problem in guarding him. He said they then would have to contend only with "a maximum of 7,000 Communists and pro-Communists including 3,000 students."

The pro-Communist wing of Zengakuren, which played a key role in mobbing of Hagerty's car, avowed its intention to demonstrate when Eisenhower arrives. But Socialist party leader Isajiro Asanuma urged "every precaution so that the June 10 Hagerty incident will not be repeated."

Left-wing unions claimed that more than five million workers will stop work for from one hour to all day Wednesday in another nationwide demand for Kishi to dissolve Parliament and put the U.S.-Japan pact to an election test. Students and union members also planned new mass marches on Parliament and the U.S. Embassy.

Opposition in Senate Heard To Proposed Antarctic Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) charged today the Antarctic Treaty with the Soviet Union and 10 other nations poses "a danger to the security of the United States" and its allies.

Engle, asking its rejection, said the treaty would settle "the seal of free world recognition on the Soviet presence in Antarctica in return for whatever assurance the treaty offers that the Soviets will not be trouble makers."

The treaty, signed in Washington last December, provides that Antarctica shall be developed and used only for peaceful purposes. It recognizes no territorial claims by any individual nation.

In addition to the United States and the Soviet Union, countries signing the treaty are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, France, South Africa and Britain.

Engle spoke against the treaty in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. pSen. Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska) also was listed as an opposition witness.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) told newsmen that if the treaty "runs up against much serious opposition this late in the session, it may have to go over to the next" session.

Engle said that for the United States to give up sovereignty rights in Antarctica "would be as great a folly as it would have been many years ago to forego purchase of Alaska."

"The treaty will give the Soviet Union a position of equality which it does not deserve, and which poses a danger to the security of our allies in the southern hemisphere," Engle said.

Initiated by the United States, the treaty prohibits establishment of military bases in Antarctica, provides for freedom of scientific research and cooperation and bans nuclear explosions and the dumping of radioactive waste there pending conclusion of international agreements on nuclear uses.

In submitting it to Congress, President Eisenhower called it "a significant advance toward the goal of a peaceful world with justice."

John Henry Vinson, Columbus, was fined $30 and costs after waiving a hearing on a charge of operating a vehicle without an operator's license.

William Jackson, 370 Weldon Ave., paid $10 and costs on a count of operating a car without proper lights.

Barbara Jane Jones, 376 Weldon Ave., pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace by fighting. She was fined $50 and costs with $20 of the fine suspended and was placed on six month's probation.

Hospital Stays Costing More, Patients Find

Some Administrators Finding Ways To Cut Housekeeping Needs

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The mounting costs of a stay in a hospital are being learned daily by ailing Americans. The mounting costs of maintaining hospital service at the desired standards are fretting their administrators increasingly.

They contend that most costs can't be cut without impairing the care of patients.

But some are making a big effort to cut down the costs of their housekeeping needs, which it is estimated totals around a billion dollars a year.

And about 250 hospitals with a total of 62,000 beds use a nonprofit association to buy such supplies at a saving averaging from 10 to 15 per cent on various items through large volume purchasing and bargain hunting.

These housekeeping needs include such things as drugs, cleaning materials, textile and paper products, furniture and bedding, office supplies and specialized surgical equipment.

The central organization, the Hospital Bureau, Inc., also tries to keep its members hep to local or regional bargains in food and other local products they buy on their own.

It runs a research program to find what products give the best value in relations to cost and quality—and it isn't always the one with the lowest price tag—and to test products against rigid standards that hospitals demand.

The Hospital Bureau has as members voluntary nonprofit hospitals throughout the nation, in small towns and the largest cities. Some are as small as 40 beds. Some as large as 1,500 beds. Membership costs are based on size, and range from 66 cents to $2 a day, covering personnel, operative and research outlays.

Paul E. Widman, chairman of the bureau's purchasing agents committee, explains that the buying is based on contracts, agreements and jobbing arrangements.

The agreements are flexible contracts worked out with manufacturers who guarantee a fixed price for a specific time. Most afford an annual refund, proportionate to the amount of business done, to members buying under those agreements. In 1958, refunds to members came to $275,000.

The bureau admits that its savings, big as they seem, are only a drop in the bucket of total costs. Only a fraction of the nation's hospitals use the bureau. Others seek their own ways of saving.

To balance their books, the hospitals have turned to raising patients' fees for rooms and for various services. When this doesn't solve the deficit problem—and it often doesn't—they turn to private donors for support.

Integration Called Worse than Rape

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Supreme Court Justice Jim Johnson has called racial integration a greater crime than rape and murder and pledged to campaign for a state constitutional amendment to close schools faced with race-mixing.

Johnson, in an Arkansas Gazette interview Sunday, said he will campaign for the proposed amendment despite a request by the Arkansas Bar Assn. that the Supreme Court prevent his doing so.

The bar association last week asked the court to adopt an American Bar Assn. canon which sets out that judges should avoid making political speeches.

Khrush Believed Victor in Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev seems to have won a victory, at least at home, in battling against "leftist" opponents of his theory of peaceful coexistence.

That is the hasty interpretation of State Department Soviet scholars here of the strong defense of Khrushchev's policy and a denunciation of his critics made in Sunday's issue of Pravda, the Communist party paper.

The scholars say it will take a lot of study to evaluate fully the Pravda article. But they said that even a first glance confirms the theory that Khrushchev intends to maintain his line of coexistence and of negotiation to settle international disputes.

The Pravda article by N. Matkovsky said some persons mistakenly considered such things as meetings between Communist and nonCommunist chiefs of state a departure from Marxism and Leninism.

"Comrade Khrushchev has said, on questions of ideology we have firmly stood and will stand like a rock on the foundations of Marxism and Leninism," Matkovsky said.

The article and discussion of it by the Soviet public took note that in the world Communist movement there has been some differences of opinion. It identified Khrushchev's opponents only as left wing Communists, which apparently was aimed at Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese Communist opponents in the Communist camp of the Premier's efforts to ease tension between the Western and Communist worlds.

Whenever Pravda prints a similar piece on ideological questions, it usually marks the end of extensive debate behind closed doors on the highest Communist level.

Soviet experts at the State Department said it would be highly speculative to say who were the opponents of the Khrushchev thesis in the Soviet Union itself. There is, however, no doubt that such a group exists.

While the Pravda piece has likely settled the dispute in the Kremlin by endorsing the Khrushchev line, what if any effect it will have on the Chinese thinking remains to be seen, the experts said.

Mao is not only regarded by many as the No. 1 ideologist of Marxism, he also represents a country which never was satisfied to be just a satellite.

Statewide Library Card Idea Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the State Library Board grants its approval today, Ohio will be on its way toward becoming the first state to use a kind of statewide library credit card.

The idea is simple. Instead of being issued a card for each library system they patronize, Ohioans would be given one library card—good for taking out books from any library in any community in the state.

Putting the idea into practice is tougher. State librarian Walter Brahm has conferred with a number of Ohio librarians since announcing the proposal in March. Most medium-size and small libraries favor the plan, he said, but some of the larger libraries are concerned about the mechanics of it.

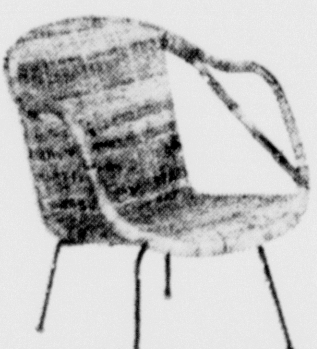

The proposed card probably would have raised lettering just like most store charge account plates, Brahm said, but that feature would be used only in those libraries with equipment to stamp the borrower's name and address or book cards. Others merely would record the information contained on the borrower's card.

In asking librarians for their ideas last March, Brahm said the state would guarantee any losses occurring under such a program. In that memorandum, he said the State Library Board at first considered it "nigh unto impossible to get local library boards and administrators to accept such an idea."

It's estimated only a small percentage of the population probably would make use of the privilege.

Admiral Richard Byrd was 30 years of age when he first solo piloted a plane.

They contend that most costs can't be cut without impairing the care of patients.

But some are making a big effort to cut down the costs of their housekeeping needs, which it is estimated totals around a billion dollars a year.

And about 250 hospitals with a total of 62,000 beds use a nonprofit association to buy such supplies at a saving averaging from 10 to 15 per cent on various items through large volume purchasing and bargain hunting.

These housekeeping needs include such things as drugs, cleaning materials, textile and paper products, furniture and bedding, office supplies and specialized surgical equipment.

The central organization, the Hospital Bureau, Inc., also tries to keep its members hip to local or regional bargains in food and other local products they buy on their own.

It runs a research program to find what products give the best value in relations to cost and quality—and it isn't always the one with the lowest price tag—and to test products against rigid standards that hospitals demand.

The Hospital Bureau has as members voluntary nonprofit hospitals throughout the nation, in small towns and the largest cities. Some are as small as 40 beds. Some as large as 1,500 beds. Membership costs are based on size, and range from 66 cents to $2 a day, covering personnel, operative and research outlays.

Paul E. Widman, chairman of the bureau's purchasing agents committee, explains that the buying is based on contracts, agreements and jobbing arrangements.

The agreements are flexible contracts worked out with manufacturers who guarantee a fixed price for a specific time. Most afford an annual refund, proportionate to the amount of business done, to members buying under those agreements. In 1958, refunds to members came to $273,000.

The bureau admits that its savings, big as they seem, are only a drop in the bucket of total costs. Only a fraction of the nation's hospitals use the bureau. Others seek their own ways of saving.

To balance their books, the hospitals have turned to raising patients' fees for rooms and for various services. When this doesn't solve the deficit problem—and it often doesn't—they turn to private donors for support.

Integration Called Worse than Rape

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Supreme Court Justice Jim Johnson has called racial integration a greater crime than rape and murder and pledged to campaign for a state constitutional amendment to close schools faced with race-mixing.

Johnson, in an Arkansas Gazette interview Sunday, said he will campaign for the proposed amendment despite a request by the Arkansas Bar Assn. that the Supreme Court prevent his doing so.

The bar association last week asked the court to adopt an American Bar Assn. canon which sets out that judges should avoid making political speeches.

Khrush Believed Victor in Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev seems to have won a victory, at least at home, in battling against "leftist" opponents of his theory of peaceful coexistence.

That is the hasty interpretation of State Department Soviet scholars here of the strong defense of Khrushchev's policy and a denunciation of his critics made in Sunday's issue of Pravda, the Communist party paper.

The scholars say it will take a lot of study to evaluate fully the Pravda article. But they said that even a first glance confirms the theory that Khrushchev intends to maintain his line of coexistence and of negotiation to settle international disputes.

The Pravda article by N. Matkovsky said some persons mistakenly considered such things as meetings between Communist and non-Communist chiefs of state a departure from Marxism and Leninism.

"Comrade Khrushchev has said, on questions of ideology we have firmly stood and will stand like a rock on the foundations of Marxism and Leninism," Matkovsky said.

The article and discussion of it by the Soviet public took note that in the world Communist movement there has been some differences of opinion. It identified Khrushchev's opponents only as left wing Communists, which apparently was aimed at Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese Communist opponents in the Communist camp of the Premier's efforts to ease tension between the Western and Communist worlds.

Whenever Pravda prints a similar piece on ideological questions, it usually marks the end of extensive debate behind closed doors on the highest Communist level.

Soviet experts at the State Department said it would be highly speculative to say who were the opponents of the Khrushchev thesis in the Soviet Union itself. There is, however, no doubt that such a group exists.

While the Pravda piece has likely settled the dispute in the Kremlin by endorsing the Khrushchev line, what if any effect it will have on the Chinese thinking remains to be seen, the experts said.

Mao is not only regarded by many as the No. 1 ideologist of Marxism, he also represents a country which never was satisfied to be just a satellite.

Statewide Library Card Idea Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the State Library Board grants its approval today, Ohio will be on its way toward becoming the first state to use a kind of statewide library credit card.

The idea is simple. Instead of being issued a card for each library system they patronize, Ohioans would be given one library card—good for taking out books from any library in any community in the state.

Putting the idea into practice is tougher. State librarian Walter Brahm has conferred with a number of Ohio librarians since announcing the proposal in March. Most medium-size and small libraries favor the plan, he said, but some of the larger libraries are concerned about the mechanics of it.

The proposed card probably would have raised lettering, just like most store charge account plates, Brahm said, but that feature would be used only in those libraries with equipment to stamp the borrower's name and address or book cards. Others merely would record the information contained on the borrower's card.

In asking librarians for their ideas last March, Brahm said the state would guarantee any losses occurring under such a program. In that memorandum, he said the State Library Board at first considered it "nigh unto impossible to get local library boards and administrators to accept such an idea."

It's estimated only a small percentage of the population probably would make use of the privilege.

Admiral Richard Byrd was 30 years of age when he first solo piloted a plane.

N&W-Nickel Plate Chieftains OK Merger of Companies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Norfolk and Western Railroad and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Nickel Plate agreed to merge, it was announced today.

The joint statement by the presidents of the two lines said the merger would be submitted to shareholders of the two companies and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

If merger is approved, it would create a new system having some 5,024 miles of track extending from Virginia through Illinois and into New York State. Terms of the agreement call for exchanging each share of Nickel Plate common stock for 45 shares of Norfolk and Western common. This would give Nickel Plate stockholders about a fifth of the common stock in the merged company.

The joint announcement, released by N&W after a meeting of its board here, said the proposed merger is contingent upon the acquisition of a connecting link between the two lines.

President Stuart T. Saunders of the N&W and F. S. Hales of the Nickel Plate said consideration is being given to connecting the two properties by means of the Pennsylvania Railroad line between Columbus, Ohio, and Sandusky, Ohio.

They said negotiations to this end are being held with the Pennsylvania, which owns a third of the N&W common stock and has four members on the 14-member N&W board.

The connection link would be a 111-mile span.

The two presidents said "Our studies have shown that a merger would result in substantial saving and economics, as well as better service to the shipping public. The amount of the savings will not be known until we have completed our plans for connecting the two roads."

The Norfolk and Western recently merged with the Virginian Railway Co.

The Nickel Plate-N&W merger would place the new company in the first 10 railroads in the nation.

C&O Sends B&O Share Owners Exchange Offer

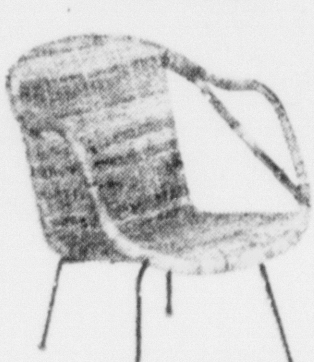

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chesapeake & Ohio Railway today mailed Baltimore & Ohio Railroad share owners an exchange offer for their stock and announced that Tuesday it would file for Interstate Commerce Commission authorization for a merger of the two railroads.

The stock exchange plan has approval and recommendation from directors of both railroads. It provides for exchange of one share of C. & O. common stock for each 134 shares of B. & O. common and for one share of C. & O. common for one share of B. & O. preferred.

Unless extended, the stock swap offer will expire at 3 p. m. Sept. 12, 1960, the letter said.

In its application to the ICC, the C. & O. said it would seek authority for the exchange of stock and for issuance of authorized but unissued C. & O. common stock of no more than 2,055,398 shares.

Long May It Wave!

It was on June 14, 1777, that the Continental Congress adopted a resolution providing that "the flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be 13 stars, white in a blue field representing a new constellation." That was 183 years ago.

The American flag was an evolution from many state flags and the banners of colonial militia regiments. It did not spring from the minds of George Washington's committee and the nimble fingers of Betsy Ross.

The Betsy Ross story is a legend, but a legend so "satisfying to the imagination and appealing to the sentiment," in the words of the flag historian, Prof. Robert Phillips, that "we wish it to be true; and for its very moral and inspirational value it should not be expunged from its cherished place among the proud American traditions."

But if the actual steps in the development of the American flag cannot be retraced with certainty, there can be no doubt that its ultimate designers wrought a thing of beauty. It has a symmetry and harmony of form and color surpassed in few other national flags.

No sophistication can prevent the American heart from quickening at sight of the Stars and Stripes rippling in a brisk breeze. Precious symbol of a beloved land, never more precious, never more loved than in time of danger.

Chilean Help Is Needed

Tons upon tons of food and medical supplies are being flown to quake - desolated areas of Chile by the U. S. The havoc is reported to be indescribably, with millions homeless, scores of thousands injured and thousands dead.

Relief needs are tremendous, but the American people will do their utmost to alleviate misery and prevent disease. Reconstruction will be a gigantic task and will require years.

It was a shift in the earth's surface near the coast of southern Chile that set off a chain of natural disaster half way around the world. Chile itself bore the brunt of the series of earthquakes that followed. But like milk in a teetering bowl, tidal waves spilled over Chile's coast and cascaded over the faraway shores of Japan, Okinawa, Hawaii and other Pacific islands. The West Coast of the United States suffered damage.

To those spared by nature's convulsion, the Red Cross has appealed for contributions. The call should not go unheeded.

Why Do Women Seek Marriage?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Why do women want to marry?

This is something the philosophic male often ponders. For to his unprejudiced eye, it often seems that most of the woes that befall women can be traced, directly or indirectly, to marriage.

Marriage appears to cause many of them to go to rack and ruin. Or if it doesn't, then what does? What else is there to blame?

A single girl of 22, in many ways, represents femininity at its peak. She is neat, strong, healthy, and attractive. She has a job and is financially independent. She likes sports and is well-informed on world affairs. She reads the latest books. She keeps up with everything.

She doesn't know it, but she is in the prime of life.

What happens? Well, she listens to some wedge-headed youth who tells her, "What's a pretty dame like you doing wasting yourself behind a typewriter? Why don't you let me take you away from all this empty nonsense?"

She does. She marries the goof.

And then what happens? Why she goes straight downhill. She falls apart like a wet paper bag in a hurricane. The years peel her like she was an artichoke.

Before marriage she could play 36 holes of golf and then demand, "Anybody for tennis?" After marriage she can't walk half a block without looking around for a taxi.

Before marriage she could carry a 25-pound pack on an all-day hike without help. After marriage she can't struggle into a girdle without help.

Before marriage — liked nothing better than inviting a boy friend to her apartment and dishing him up a nice meal. After marriage she suddenly can't stand her own cooking anymore. She wants to eat out at least three nights a week.

Before marriage a nice cloth coat suited her fine. After marriage something happens to her metabolism. "I just can't take these cold winters the way I used to," she says. "I have to have a fur coat or I'll freeze to death."

Before marriage she could talk on any subject. After marriage the only topic she is really interested in is, "why don't you either ask your boss for more money, or look for a better job?"

Before marriage she loved acting as a baby sitter. After marriage she spends most of her time trying to find a baby sitter.

Before marriage half a dozen guys stood in line to help her paint her apartment. After marriage she wails, "If this house is ever going to get any new wallpaper, I guess I'll have to put it up myself."

Before marriage, when she got a new dress, everyone said, "Gee, you look pretty." After marriage, her husband merely growls, "What'd it cost?"

Before marriage she didn't have a gray hair in her head, and she had a shape like a willow tree. After marriage —

But why go on with it? What matrimony does to the average woman is obvious to everyone—even herself.

The puzzle remains: Why do women eagerly seek marriage, when they know its terrible price?

Election Laws Are Needed

By George Sokolsky

Until a law is provided which strictly limits election costs and makes it a felony to spend one cent more, until such a law excludes every possible gimmick, including under-the-table cash contributions and organization of committees only to receive additional contributions—until this happens our elections will not be fair. Some of them will be crooked. The British manage to have clean elections. Their laws are strict and are strictly enforced.

It is absurd that Presidential elections should cost millions of dollars, the amount constantly increasing. It will soon be that only a multi-millionaire, a servant of the large labor unions or a minion of the racketeers will be able to raise enough money to pay for the costs of an election. If every candidate were required to swear to a statement of total expenditures in both primary and general elections, including every under-the-table contribution made not directly but associates and members of the family, few men would dare to run under present conditions.

One of the principal costs is television. Candidates should have suitable time on television free of charge. That would be a reward for the people of the United States providing air waves free of charge, a practical monopoly to a restricted number of users. On this subject, Robert W. Sarnoff of the National Broadcasting Company had this to say:

"Another aspect of proposed legislation demonstrates how ill-conceived regulation can breed problems that beget still more regulation. An example is the recent bill that would make broadcasters give at least eight hours of free evening time to the Presidential nominees of the two major parties during the election campaign. Here is a bill that would unfairly compel broadcasters to do what they have in the past been prevented from doing by the impractical restrictions of Section 315 of the Communications Act.

"Those restrictions made it impossible for a broadcaster to present the major-party candidates for President without giving equal time to every other candidate for the office. In 1956, that would have meant some 15 other candidates.

Devolving hour upon hour to the often quixotic antics of little known minority and splinter-group candidates would have been an unreasonable price on the public's patience and a disservice to common sense."

There is economic but not political sophistication in Sarnoff's statement. The economics are sound because it is not good business to put the full cost of the campaign on this one industry. The politics are unsound because it is the right of Americans to form independent political parties and these parties, under state laws, have all the rights that the major parties enjoy. The essential problem is to reduce the costs of elections while at the same time each candidate and each party has access to adequate time on radio and television.

Many solutions to this problem have been offered, none of which seem very practical:

1. That all political expenditures be paid out of taxes by a governmental agency. This would violate the nature of our elections which is that they are conducted by and for the people;

2. That a common fund be established from which contenders could draw for expenditures. This seems to be too trustful of human nature; whoever controlled the fund would control the election. It would be like some of the Foundations left by donors for honorable purposes, but seized by predatory do-gooders to feather their own nest and to add a salary to their respectability;

3. That expenditures be restricted. The Hatch Act and similar provisions have not succeeded in keeping down expenditures or making elections honest.

What is required is a strict limitation upon the final amount that may be expended and to make it a felony, with a long prison term, to spend one cent more. It does not matter how much is collected or who does the contributing if a ceiling is put on expenditures. If that is made equal for everybody, no one would have any advantage other than reputation, ability and personality.

The continuing evil is the unprovable under-the-table violation of any law. If expenditures rather than collections are monitored, there is a possibility of an honest election. The primary election has proved to be meaningless; the bosses still survive. Cut expenditures and the bosses havelounging to survive for.

HE LIKES IT—Talking to newsmen in New York, former President Harry S. Truman smiles broadly as he remarks, "The more the Republicans quarrel, the better satisfied I am." He was referring to the "feud" between Vice President Richard Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Freeze for Safer Foods

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

This seems like an appropriate time to talk about freezing—freezing foods. I mean, not freezing people.

Frozen foods have made home-making much easier for American women. They also are making foods safer.

There is nothing new about keeping foods fresh through the use of cold storage. But by quick-freezing foods fresh through the use they can be kept much longer.

The process involves the freezing of fruits and vegetables in temperatures considerably below 32 degrees as quickly as possible after they are picked.

Meats and poultry are frozen after desired aging.

Foods frozen properly not only retain virtually all of their taste but, more important, they retain most of their vitamin content as well.

Rarely do micro-organisms other than molds grow at sub-freezing temperatures. And you can protect most foods against molds by sealing them in some impervious material. Some foods may also have to be blanched.

Bacteria which produce disease—including the extremely dangerous botulinum organism—do not grow in sub-freezing temperatures.

Still, freezing does not kill the spores of Clostridium botulinum, nor does it eliminate the danger from any toxin which might have been present before the foods were frozen.

Clostridium botulinum is a relatively rare species of bacteria which can enter foods from the earth.

The botulinus toxin is the most powerful one we know. However, if it is in the food, it can be destroyed by five minutes of boiling.

The parasites sometimes found in fresh meat can be killed by freezing.

However, freezing and boiling kill the tissues of meats. This makes it easier for bacteria to infect meats once they have become thawed.

This I recommend that you cook or eat frozen foods immediately after they have thawed.

If this can't be done for some reason, I suggest that you store the thawed foods in temperatures under 40 degrees until you can use them.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's the greatest play on words since somebody invented abracadabra. Adlai E. Stevenson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller deny they're looking for a job but they don't deny they'd run for the phone if the employment agency called.

For a pair being shy, they manage amazingly well to keep their names in the headlines.

Rockefeller withdrew from the race for the Republican presidential nomination without ever having admitted he was in it. Now he is back in it by saying he would accept a draft while firmly denying he's a candidate.

Stevenson won't even agree he'd accept a draft by the Democrats to be their presidential choice. But he doesn't say he wouldn't. The past few days his hat seemed to be in the ring. Then he grabbed it back.

Both men continue to stride across the national political scene, making political speeches and noises like candidates. Neither has denied he would just love to be picked.

Stevenson makes speeches explaining his own five-point "grand strategy for peace" and issues statements criticizing the Republicans and President Eisenhower.

He termed the administration's handling of the spy plane a blunder, at the same time speaking out against partisan fault-finding at this time.

Rockefeller criticizes the Eisenhower administration in a number of fields, but says "I think the administration has done a wonderful job."

He shocked the Republicans last week by calling Vice President Richard M. Nixon to come out of the political bushes and say where he stands.

Rockefeller says it is "urgently necessary" for Nixon to state his position on the issues but that, even if Nixon doesn't, he will support the vice president if the latter gets the nomination.

The governor says one of the vital signs of national political health is debate within the party. But when Nixon challenged him to a public discussion, Rockefeller didn't accept.

Playing hard to get worked well for Stevenson in 1952. That was the year the Democrats picked him the first time. In 1956 he got their nomination again but that time he campaigned for it.

Last week Eleanor Roosevelt got a telegram from Stevenson which made her finally believe he was a candidate because of Stevenson's wording. He told her: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."

She said that made it "clear Mr. Stevenson is a candidate." This was too positive for Stevenson who then issued a statement: "I will not seek the nomination for president by the Democratic convention. Therefore I am not a candidate."

But he didn't say he would object if the nomination were offered to him.

"THE MIRACLE WORKER," a Broadway hit of major proportions, calls for a knock-down drag-out fight between star Anne Bancroft and wonderful 10-year-old

Patty Duke, in which food, plates, spoons and forks fly all over the stage, and sometimes into the front rows of the orchestra. One night, the show's press agent reports, "A lady dressed to the teeth was splattered with water, a slice of bread, and a piece of silverware. In the intermission she told the house manager, 'With this show I think you should serve the audience bibs!'"

A practical joker sent the girls of a sorority house at Iowa State a box containing eleven white mice. The next day he sent a note saying, "I hope you're enjoying the antics of those twelve mischievous little devils." The girls spent the next two days searching frantically for the "missing" mouse.

Wrote a forlorn college youth to his hard-hearted father: "Dad, I love to be treated with kindness, but oh, my parent, not with unremitting kindness!"

Everybody Knew about Wrigley's Gum

or

How to Have a Going-Out-of-Business Sale

A NUMBER of years ago, William Wrigley, the chewing-gum maker and ball-club owner, decided that everyone in America knew about his gum, and that there was no further need to advertise it.

So he quit advertising.

He also almost lost the gum business. As well known as his gum was — when he was advertising it — it was quickly forgotten by millions of people. Other gums were being advertised, so people bought them.

Mr. Wrigley got on the stick at once, put his advertising back to work, and saved his business. His son still has it — and profits enough to keep his ball club going.

WRIGLEY NEVER made the mistake, however, of thinking his advertising was a "favor" to the newspapers, magazines, and other media in which he placed it. He was in the business of making sales, not extending favors. Yet this is an error often made by some retail merchants. They feel that everyone knows they are in business, and their advertising is only a favor to the newspaper.

Actually it is no favor at all — any more than it is a favor when customers buy what advertisers have to sell.

ANY TALK, however, of who gets favored the more, covers up a much more vital fact. The absence of vigorous, continual local advertising does as much to drive people to go off somewhere else to shop as the siren lures of distant merchants.

Advertising — thought-out advertising — is news, and people look for such news where they can find it. Trade always goes to the active merchandiser and the consistent advertiser of genuine values. No "favors" are involved.

THE MERCHANT who thinks everyone knows him too often gets around to advertising only when he has a going-out-of-business sale. It has happened many times.

Before marriage when she got a new dress, everyone said, "Gee, you look pretty." After marriage, her husband merely growls, "What'd it cost?"

Before marriage she didn't have a gray hair in her head, and she had a shape like a willow tree. After marriage—

But why go on with it? What matrimony does to the average woman is obvious to everyone—even herself.

The puzzle remains: Why do women eagerly seek marriage, when they know its terrible price?

Election Laws Are Needed

By George Sokolsky

Until a law is provided which strictly limits election costs and makes it a felony to spend one cent more; until such a law excludes every possible gimmick, including under-the-table cash contributions and organization of committees only to receive additional contributions—until this happens our elections will not be fair. Some of them will be crooked. The British manage to have clean elections. Their laws are strict and are strictly enforced.

It is absurd that Presidential elections should cost millions of dollars, the amount constantly increasing. It will soon be that only a multi-millionaire, a servant of the large labor unions or a minion of the racketeers will be able to raise enough money to pay for the costs of an election. If every candidate were required to swear to a statement of total expenditures in both primary and general elections, including every under-the-table contribution made not directly but associates and members of the family, few men would dare to run under present conditions.

One of the principal costs is television. Candidates should have suitable time on television free of charge. That would be a reward for the people of the United States providing air waves free of charge, a practical monopoly to a restricted number of users. On this subject, Robert W. Sarnoff of the National Broadcasting Company had this to say:

"Another aspect of proposed legislation demonstrates how ill-conceived regulation can breed problems that begot still more regulation. An example is the recent bill that would make broadcasters give at least eight hours of free evening time to the Presidential nominees of the two major parties during the election campaign. Here is a bill that would unfairly compel broadcasters to do what they have in the past been prevented from doing by the impractical restrictions of Section 315 of the Communications Act.

"Those restrictions made it impossible for a broadcaster to present the major-party candidates for President without giving equal time to every other candidate for the office. In 1956, that would have meant some 15 other candidates.

Devoting hour upon hour to the often quixotic antics of little known minority and splinter-group candidates would have been an unreasonable price on the public's patience and a disservice to common sense."

There is economic but not political sophistication in Sarnoff's statement. The economics are sound because it is not good business to put the full cost of the campaign on this industry. The politics are unsound because it is the right of Americans to form independent political parties and these parties, under state laws, have all the rights that the major parties enjoy. The essential problem is to reduce the costs of elections while at the same time each candidate and each party has access to adequate time on radio and television.

Many solutions to this problem have been offered, none of which seem very practical:

1. That all political expenditures be paid out of taxes by a governmental agency. This would violate the nature of our elections which is that they are conducted by and for the people;
2. That a common fund be established from which contenders could draw for expenditures. This seems to be too trustful of human nature; whoever controlled the fund would control the election. It would be like some of the Foundations left by donors for honorable purposes, but seized by predatory do-gooders to feather their own nest and to add a salary to their respectability;
3. That expenditures be restricted. The Hatch Act and sim-

Freeze for Safer Foods

By Herman N. Rundes, M.D.

This seems like an appropriate time to talk about freezing — freezing foods, I mean, not freezing people.

Frozen foods have made home-making much easier for American women. They also are making foods safer.

There is nothing new about keeping foods fresh through the use of cold storage. But by quick-freezing foods fresh through the use they can be kept much, much longer.

The process involves the freezing of fruits and vegetables in temperatures considerably below 32 degrees as quickly as possible after they are picked.

Meats and poultry are frozen after desired aging.

Foods frozen properly not only retain virtually all of their taste but, more important, they retain most of their vitamin content as well.

Rarely do micro-organisms other than molds grow at sub-freezing temperatures. And you can protect most foods against molds by sealing them in some impervious material. Some foods may also have to be blanched.

Bacteria which produce disease — including the extremely dangerous botulinum organism — do not grow in sub-freezing temperatures.

Still, freezing does not kill the spores of Clostridium botulinum, nor does it eliminate the danger from any toxin which might have been present before the foods were frozen.

Clostridium botulinum is a relatively rare species of bacteria which can enter foods from the earth.

The botulinus toxin is the most powerful one we know. However,

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's the greatest play on words since somebody invented abracadabra.

Adlai E. Stevenson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller deny they're looking for a job but they don't deny they'd run for the phone if the employment agency called.

For a pair being shy, they manage amazingly well to keep their names in the headlines.

Rockefeller withdrew from the race for the Republican presidential nomination without ever having admitted he was in it. Now he is back in it by saying he would accept a draft while firmly denying he's a candidate.

Stevenson won't even agree he'd accept a draft by the Democrats to be their presidential choice. But he doesn't say he wouldn't. The past few days his hat seemed to be in the ring. Then he grabbed it back.

Both men continue to stride across the national political scene, making political speeches and noises like candidates. Neither has denied he would just love to be picked.

Stevenson makes speeches explaining his own five-point "grand strategy for peace" and issues statements criticizing the Republicans and President Eisenhower.

He termed the administration's handling of the spy plane a blunder, at the same time speaking out against partisan fault-finding at this time.

Rockefeller criticizes the Eisenhower administration in a number of fields, but says "I think the administration has done a wonderful job."

He shocked the Republicans last week by calling Vice President Richard M. Nixon to come out of the political bushes and say where he stands.

Rockefeller says it is "urgently necessary" for Nixon to state his position on the issues but that, even if Nixon doesn't, he will support the vice president if the latter gets the nomination.

The governor says one of the vital signs of national political health is debate within the party. But when Nixon challenged him to a public discussion, Rockefeller didn't accept.

Playing hard to get worked well for Stevenson in 1952. That was the year the Democrats picked him the first time. In 1956 he got their nomination again but that time he campaigned for it.

Last week Eleanor Roosevelt got a telegram from Stevenson which made her finally believe he was a candidate because of Stevenson's wording. He told her: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."

She said that made it "clear Mr. Stevenson is a candidate."

This was too positive for Stevenson who then issued a statement: "I will not seek the nomination for president by the Democratic convention. Therefore I am not a candidate."

But he didn't say he would object if the nomination were offered to him.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"THE MIRACLE WORKER," a Broadway hit of major proportions, calls for a knock-down drag-out fight between star Anne Bancroft and wonderful 10-year-old Patty Duke, in which food, plates, spoons and forks fly all over the stage, and sometimes into the front rows of the orchestra. One night, the show's press agent reports, "A lady dressed to the teeth was splattered with water, a slice of bread, and a piece of silverware. In the intermission she told the house manager, 'With this show I think you should serve the audience bibs!'"

A practical joker sent the girls of a sorority house at Iowa State a box containing eleven white mice. The next day he sent a note saying, "I hope you're enjoying the antics of those twelve mischievous little devils." The girls spent the next two days searching frantically for the "missing" mouse.

Wrote a forlorn college youth to his hard-hearted father: "Dad, I love to be treated with kindness, but oh, my parent, not with unremitting kindness!"

or

How to Have a Going-Out-of-Business Sale

A NUMBER of years ago, William Wrigley, the chewing-gum maker and ball-club owner, decided that everyone in America knew about his gum and that there was no further need to advertise it.

So he quit advertising.

He also almost lost the gum business. As well known as his gum was — when he was advertising it — it was quickly forgotten by millions of people. Other gums were being advertised, so people bought them.

Mr. Wrigley got on the stick at once, put his advertising back to work, and saved his business. His son still has it — and profits enough to keep his ball club going.

WRIGLEY NEVER made the mistake, however, of thinking his advertising was a "favor" to the newspapers, magazines, and other media in which he placed it. He was in the business of making sales, not extending favors. Yet this is an error often made by some retail merchants. They feel that everyone knows they are in business, and their advertising is only a favor to the newspaper.

Actually it is no favor at all — any more than it is a favor when customers buy what advertisers have to sell.

ANY TALK, however, of who gets favored the more, covers up a much more vital fact. The absence of vigorous, continual local advertising does as much to drive people to go off somewhere else to shop as the siren lures of distant merchants.

Advertising — thought-out advertising — is news, and people look for such news where they can find it. Trade always goes to the active merchandiser and the consistent advertiser of genuine values. No "favors" are involved.

THE MERCHANT who thinks everyone knows him too often gets around to advertising only when he has a going-out-of-business sale. It has happened many times.

Sesquicentennial . . A Look at the Past

On Sunday afternoon the Tri-Township Sesquicentennial tour drew the attention of many residents of Pickaway County and neighboring communities.

Open house was held at the William J. Barthelmas residence in Wayne Twp. and at the home of Charles Mills in Perry Twp., known as the "Half - Way House".

An old map of the village of Williamsport was furnished in the brochure describing the tour. One of Pickaway County's two remaining covered bridges at Crownover's Mill was also listed as a point of interest.

The William J. Barthelmas home was built about 1825 by Smith Horsey. It is a massive building, the inside finish being of that generous ornate character so much in vogue among the well - to - do pioneers. The graining on the doors, windows and casings has not been changed in all the years of use and yet, apparently, are in as good condition as when originally done.

Mr. Horsey sold the property to Robert Campbell who in turn sold it to George Barthelmas in 1877. William J. Barthelmas, the present owner is a great grandson of George Barthelmas.

THE PRESENT owners have recaptured much of the original charm of the home by the use of antique furnishing of the period to which the house belongs. This home is an example of gracious living achieved by the blending of the old with the modern.

The "Half - Way House" is on Route 277 about three miles north of Route 22 in Perry Twp. It was built in the 1820's for a Mr. Henry Rickey. This is said to be the first brick house built in this vicinity.

It originally was built for and used as an Inn and Stage Coach stop. It gets its name from the fact that it is situated at the half-way point between London and Chillicothe. It also served as a toll station on the turnpike.

It is believed that this may have been a slave underground station as there is still a trap door in the floor of the second story room which connects with the basement that at one time had a tunnel leading to scale lot and watering trough across the highway.

In 1855 Mr. Squire Thomas of Monroe Twp., purchased the property. Mr. Thomas held court in one of the first floor rooms. He also had part of the old Inn torn down and converted the remainder of the structure into a farm residence.

The property passed from the Thomas family to a Mr. Jefferson Brooks. The present owner is Mr. H. E. Woods who resides in Columbus.

Almost all the woodwork in the front room of the house is the original wood used when it was built. The cabinets are of walnut. There is also a built - in money drawer used by the Inn and later by Squire Thomas while holding court.

The Mills family has resided here for the last 45 years. James Mills, father of Charles W. Mills, moved to the farm as a tenant in 1915.

At both homes ladies in costumes of long ago acted as guides to conduct visitors through the houses. The great number of interesting items at each home made it impossible to do justice to all of them in one afternoon.

The committee in charge of the tour, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. James Greenwood and Mr. Robert Conway are to be congratulated for their efforts in making possible this outstanding success in behalf of the county - wide Sesquicentennial celebration.

The Pageant Committee for the Sesquicentennial celebration has had two meetings, both of which were held in the home of Cecil Roebuck, 1010 N. Court St.

Roebuck is serving as chairman for this committee. The various committees working along with the chairman have been organized and plans have been made to present the pageant to the public in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum on September 26 and 27.

Members of the committee, in addition to Roebuck, general chairman, are:

Production, William Pangburn, Robert Ransom; Staging, Wallace Higgins, Mrs. Kenneth Lush; Casting, Mrs. Clifford Bowsher, Harford Renick;

Costuming, Mrs. J. H. Hatcher, Mrs. David L. Yates; Properties, Harry Montelius, Miss Ruth Montelius; Advanced Ticket Sale, Dr. G. D. Phillips, Mrs. Howard White; Publicity, James Brown and Mrs. Harry C. Kern.

The title of the production is "A Pageant of Logan, Chief of the Mingoes." It was written by Dr. and Mrs. Tom Haber. Both Dr. and Mrs. Haber are instructors in the English Department of Ohio State University. Mrs. Haber is the former Grace Stevenson, a native Pickaway Countian.

THE PAGEANT will be in eight scenes. It is planned to tape all speaking parts and background music. To this all characters will pantomime the story.

Any resident of Circleville or Pickaway County who is interested in serving on any of these committees or taking part in the production is asked to contact any member of the pageant committee. They will be notified regarding future meetings. The presentation of this pageant is a large undertaking and the help of many is needed to bring before the public this famous bit of Early Ohio History one that should be of particular interest to all residents of Pickaway County.

It is a massive building, the inside finish being of that generous ornate character so much in vogue among the well-to-do pioneers. The graining on the doors, windows and casings has not been changed in all the years of use and yet, apparently, are in as good condition as when originally done.

Mr. Horsey sold the property to Robert Campbell who in turn sold it to George Barthelmas in 1877. William J. Barthelmas, the present owner is a great grandson of George Barthelmas.

THE PRESENT owners have recaptured much of the original charm of the home by the use of antique furnishing of the period to which the house belongs. This home is an example of gracious living achieved by the blending of the old with the modern.

The "Half-Way House" is on Route 277 about three miles north of Route 22 in Perry Twp. It was built in the 1820's for a Mr. Henry Rickey. This is said to be the first brick house built in this vicinity.

It originally was built for and used as an Inn and Stage Coach stop. It gets its name from the fact that it is situated at the half-way point between London and Chillicothe. It also served as a toll station on the turnpike.

It is believed that this may have been a slave underground station as there is still a trap door in the floor of the second story room which connects with the basement that at one time had a tunnel leading to scale lot and watering trough along the highway.

In 1855 Mr. Squire Thomas of Monroe Twp., purchased the property. Mr. Thomas held court in one of the first floor rooms. He also had part of the old Inn torn down and converted the remainder of the structure into a farm residence.

The property passed from the Thomas family to a Mr. Jefferson Brooks. The present owner is Mr. H. E. Woods who resides in Columbus.

Almost all the woodwork in the front room of the house is the original wood used when it was built. The cabinets are of walnut. There is also a built-in money drawer used by the Inn and later by Squire Thomas while holding court.

The Mills family has resided here for the last 45 years. James Mills, father of Charles W. Mills, moved to the farm as a tenant in 1915.

At both homes ladies in costumes of long ago acted as guides to conduct visitors through the houses. The great number of interesting items at each home made it impossible to do justice to all of them in one afternoon.

The committee in charge of the tour, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. James Greenwood and Mr. Robert Conway are to be congratulated for their efforts in making possible this outstanding success in behalf of the county-wide Sesquicentennial celebration.

The Pageant Committee for the Sesquicentennial celebration has had two meetings, both of which were held in the home of Cecil Roebuck, 1010 N. Court St.

Roebuck is serving as chairman for this committee. The various committees working along with the chairman have been organized and plans have been made to present the pageant to the public in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum on September 26 and 27.

Members of the committee, in addition to Roebuck, general chairman, are:

Production, William Pangburn, Robert Ransom, Staging, Wallace Higgins, Mrs. Kenneth Luna; Casting, Mrs. Clifford Bowsher, Harford Renick;

Costuming, Mrs. J. H. Hatcher, Mrs. David L. Yates; Properties, Harry Montelius, Miss Ruth Montelius; Advanced Ticket Sale, Dr. G. D. Phillips; Mrs. Howard White; Publicity, James Brown and Mrs. Harry C. Kern.

The title of the production is "A Pageant of Logan, Chief of the Mingoes." It was written by Dr. and Mrs. Tom Haber. Both Dr. and Mrs. Haber are instructors in the English Department of Ohio State University. Mrs. Haber is the former Grace Stevenson, a native Pickaway Countian.

THE PAGEANT will be in eight scenes. It is planned to tape all speaking parts and background music. To this all characters will pantomime the story.

Any resident of Circleville or Pickaway County who is interested in serving on any of these committees or taking part in the production is asked to contact any member of the pageant committee. They will be notified regarding future meetings. The presentation of this pageant is a large undertaking and the help of many is needed to bring before the public this famous bit of Early Ohio History one that should be of particular interest to all residents of Pickaway County.

Boy, 8, Struck At Court, Main

Scott Allan Thompson, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Thompson, 152 W. High St., received a skinned left arm when struck by an auto at Court and Main Sts., at 4:22 p. m. Saturday.

The boy was treated by a physician. He was hit by an auto driven by Roger B. Gleit, Middletown, headed west on Court. Gleit told police the boy stepped from the curb into the path of his car and could not avoid hitting the boy. Gleit was not held.

Governors Island, First Army headquarters in New York harbor, was known to pioneer Dutch settlers as "Nooten Eylandt" because of the many chestnut, hickory and other nutbearing trees that grew there.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Dear Madam: You Are a Snake!

DEAR ABBY: I am 43 and have been married and divorced and have two children to support. Four years ago I met a married man (he is now 46) who told me his wife didn't understand him, but he'd never divorce her because of their three minor children.

I thought if he wasn't happy with her I might as well have him, so for two years I heckled his wife with mysterious phone calls and letters telling her her husband didn't love her and was stepping out. She finally divorced him last December.

We have been seeing each other constantly, but now that he is free he still won't marry me. I found out he is trying to get his ex-wife back. I would do anything to get this man to marry me, as he is well-to-do and I would not have to work. After being a wife to him every way but legally, can I sue for not marrying me?

WANTS SECURITY
DEAR WANTS: Why don't you just head for the rocks and join the rest of the snakes?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a dispute of long standing? Every time my husband and I drive through Cairo, Illinois, we see a statue standing in the park just off the main highway.

My husband says it is a man cutting wood, and I say it is a man killing a snake. He says, "Who ever heard of anybody putting up a statue of a man for killing a snake?" And I say, "Whoever heard of putting up a statue of a man for cutting wood?"

Are we both wrong? I don't have time to look up Cairo's history. I am busy making history myself as we have ten children. Thank you.

KATHLEEN B.
DEAR KATHLEEN: Your husband is right. The statue is a very famous one, called THE HEWER, and it is indeed a monument to a man cutting wood.

DEAR ABBY: Had to giggle at the old gal who was so hurt because she was referred to as an "old maid".

Many of my single friends are far happier than my married ones. At least they don't have to put up with some crotchety old grouch after 8 hours at the office. Old maids are luckier than they think. ONE, TOO.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MR. AND MRS. "CHILDLESS": Deal only with a legitimate adoption agency. A shady transaction such as the one you are considering is illegal and could net you one big headache.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Method: Mix together the cheese, butter, shrimp, onion, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and paprika. Toast bread lightly; spread over one side of each toast slice covering edges. Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Dear Madam: You Are a Snake!

DEAR ABBY: I am 43 and have been married and divorced and have two children to support. Four years ago I met a married man (he is now 46) who told me his wife didn't understand him, but he'd never divorce her because of their three minor children.

I thought if he wasn't happy with her I might as well have him, so for two years I heckled his wife with mysterious phone calls and letters telling her her husband didn't love her and was stepping out. She finally divorced him last December.

We have been seeing each other constantly, but now that he is free he still won't marry me. I found out he is trying to get his ex-wife back. I would do anything to get this man to marry me, as he is well-to-do and I would not have to work. After being a wife to him every way but legally, can I sue for not marrying me?

WANTS SECURITY
DEAR WANTS: Why don't you just head for the rocks and join the rest of the snakes?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a dispute of long standing? Every time my husband and I drive through Cairo, Illinois, we see a statue standing in the park just off the main highway.

My husband says it is a man cutting wood, and I say it is a man killing a snake. He says, "Who ever heard of anybody putting up a statue of a man for killing a snake?" And I say, "Whoever heard of putting up a statue of a man for cutting wood?"

Are we both wrong? I don't have time to look up Cairo's history. I am busy making history myself, as we have ten children. Thank you.

KATHLEEN B.
DEAR KATHLEEN: Your husband is right. The statue is a very famous one, called THE HEWER, and it is indeed a monument to a man cutting wood.

DEAR ABBY: Had to giggle at the old gal who was so hurt because she was referred to as an "old maid".

Many of my single friends are far happier than my married ones. At least they don't have to put up with some crotchety old grouch after 8 hours at the office. Old maids are luckier than they think. ONE, TOO.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MR. AND MRS. "CHILDLESS": Deal only with a legitimate adoption agency. A shady transaction such as the one you are considering is illegal and could net you one big headache.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Giants Face Another Series With League-Leading Bucs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pittsburgh's National League-leading Pirates, getting their lumps on the road, trudge into San Francisco tonight for the opener of a three-game series with the second place Giants, who haven't been doing much better at home.

The Pirates go into Candlestick Park with a one-game lead and right-hander Bob Friend (7-3) well rested for a duel with the Giants' Sam Jones (6-4).

Simple mathematics show that all the Giants have to do to take charge is sweep the seg. That's what happened the last time the Bucs showed up at San Francisco.

But that was a month ago. The Giants haven't won any of their last four series at home. Even if they break the slump by taking two of the three with Pittsburgh, they'll still trail the Pirates by percentage points.

The Giants missed another chance to close in on the Bucs Monday, blowing a 4-0, first-inning lead and losing 12-5 to third-place Milwaukee. That gave the Braves a split in the four-game series and put them within 3½ games of first place.

Johnny Logan drove in five runs for the Braves and Lew Burdette (6-2), who now has won three in a row for the first time this season. Logan doubled home a pair in a tying, four-run second inning that chased Jack Sanford, and then clinched it with a bases-loaded triple in the third off losing reliever George Maranda (6-1).

Baltimore and Cleveland get going on a four-game argument over the American League lead tonight, but the New York Yankees, frolicking along at Kansas City, could have the last word.

The Orioles are a half-game behind the Indians as they open the three-day series at Cleveland. But the third place Yankees are just one game shy of the top after winning their sixth in a row with an 8-4 decision over the A's Monday night in the only AL game scheduled.

It's Jim Perry (6-2), a right-hander shooting for his sixth straight success, for the Indians, and either Milt Pappas (3-5) or Billy Hoef, the lefty just recalled from the minors, for the Braves.

Cleveland took over first place by winning five in a row, then slipped to second by losing the first two games of a scheduled four-game set in New York last weekend. The Indians climbed

GE Topples C of C, 7-3

General Electric jumped into second place in the Circleville Babe Ruth League last night with a 7-3 victory over Chamber of Commerce.

David Bass held Chamber to four hits to notch the victory while Larry Smith absorbed the defeat. Bass fanned six and walked six. Smith whiffed three and issued six free passes.

Hitting star of the battle was GE's Freddie Moore, who went 3 for 4 with a double and a triple. Smith was 2 for 4 for C of C. Johnny Good and Robert Purcell had 2 for 4 at the plate for GE.

General Electric won on the basis of a big second inning. The Lamp Planters tallied five runs on two walks, five hits and two stolen bases.

In all, GE blasted out 11 hits. C of C committed one error to GE's two. There is no Babe Ruth action today.

Longshots Shine In Lebanon Mud

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Rain let the longshots shine at Lebanon Raceway Monday night, but the victory of Sue Ellen in the featured trot came after an uphill fight.

Sue Ellen managed to get the edge in the stretch, but for the rest of the trip found herself battling alternately with Mahlon's Hoosier, Lady Willgo and The Blizzard. Mahlon's Hoosier finally faded to second at the wire and Lady Willgo followed.

The 6-year-old mare made a 2:27.0 circuit of the muddy mile and was worth $12.10 to mutual backers.

back on top Sunday when rain postponed their doubleheader with the Yankees and the Orioles lost two to Kansas City.

While the Birds and Indians play four, including a twi-night pair scheduled for Wednesday, the Yankees have three more left with KC.

The Yankees made it seven straight over Kansas City, five this season, behind right-hander Bob Turley and slugging Moose Skowron Monday night.

Turley, now 4-1 with his fourth straight victory, had a one-hitter and had faced the minimum 21 men until the A's broke through for all their runs in the eighth. The Yankees had finished their scoring against loser Ken Johnson (2-4) and Bob Giggie by then. Skowron drove in four with a home run, single and sacrifice fly.

The Yankees, tying Detroit for the longest streak of the season in the AL, scored three in first inning triggered by Tony Kubek's leadoff home run. Skowron homered in the third and then capped a three-run fourth by driving in two with his single. The Moose closed it out with the long fly in the sixth.

Purina, Plastic, Ward's Win in Little League Play

Ralston Purina topped The Herald in a cliffhanger; Ward's Market knocked Circleville Oil out of first place, and Lincoln Plastic handed First National Bank its third straight defeat in Little League play last night.

Purina shoved a run across in the bottom of the sixth inning last night to down a valiant fighting Herald, 8-7 for its second consecutive one-run win.

Ward's Market didn't seem to miss the loss of its first string catcher, Rodney Hedges, to The Herald, as it banged league leading Circleville Oil for 16 hits and a 17-6 victory.

Lincoln Plastic scored an 11-4 win over First National behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Pritchard and hitting of Jack White and Tom Parmer.

THE HERALD seemed on its way to its initial win this season when it came up with five runs in the second inning on two triples and a double sandwiched in between three errors.

But Purina kept nipping away at the score until it took a 7-6 margin in the fourth. The Herald tied the score in the top of the sixth on Jim Strous' double. He finally scored on an error.

An error opened the way for Purina's final inning score. Bill Hill was safe on a miscue. Jim Bowser forced Hill at second. He reached third on Phil Smith's single and scored on a passed ball.

The Herald outbait Purina, 8-5. Each team committed four errors. Doug Pontius won in relief while Strous took the loss. Danny Gibbs started for The Herald, walking two and fanning two.

Strous finished up with three walks and three strikeouts. Hill started for Purina, whiffing two. Pontius cleaned up with seven strikeouts.

Leading hitters were Purina's Gary Leasure with a triple and The Herald's Gibbs and Strous with doubles and Daryl Bass and Jim Diltz with triples.

WARD'S upset over Circleville Oil left the Jaycees all alone in first place today. The Grocers took a 2-1 initial inning lead, adding three in the second, four in the third and five in the fourth for an easy victory.

Robert Tootle garnered his second win against no defeats while Boltenhouse was the loser. Jim Hill relieved Tootle. Between the two, they fanned 10 and walked eight.

Boltenhouse and J. Funk walked seven and fanned seven. Sensational hitting was turned in by Jerry Jenkins. The 12-year-old slugger poked two home runs and three doubles in five times at the plate.

Teammates, Jim Hill and Allen Gabriel, each had three hits. Limited to seven hits, Circleville Oil was led at the plate by Adam's 2 for 3 and Dale Byrd's 2 for 2. The Oilers committed four errors to Ward's none.

Plastic backed up hurler Pritchard with 10 hits to top winless First National. Only extra base hit of the contest was Tom Parmer's home run.

Pritchard fanned nine and walked 12. Loser was David Ellick. He issued two free passes and struck out three. Bruce Pontius finished up walking seven and whiffing three.

Three games are on tap today. Coca Cola (1-1) faces the Elks (2-0) on the Southend Playground. Savings Bank (1-1) meets Third National (1-1) on the Little League diamond, and the Jaycees (2-0) battle Rotary (0-2) on the softball diamond. All games start at 5:15 p. m.

Four games take place tomorrow. Second National (1-1) at Lincoln Plastic (2-1) on the Little League diamond, and First National (0-3) at Jaycees (2-0) on the softball diamond. All games start at 5:15 p. m.

DuPont (1-1) meets Kiwanis (2-0) at 7:30 p. m. on the softball diamond under lights.

Senate Probe Points Finger At LaMotta

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators called Jake LaMotta, former middleweight boxing champion, for quizzing today about his stormy up-and-down ring career.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, mentioned an earlier New York state investigation of "possible bribe offers to LaMotta."

Kefauver filed the statement with the subcommittee as part of the official record. He said that the underworld figures are conspiring with some big shots in the boxing promotion field to wield boxing.

Police protection reportedly has been arranged for LaMotta and several other witnesses.

Kefauver said assorted hoodlums and boxing figures, some of them hostile witnesses, will testify in various stages of the investigation.

He said the hearing will center on two of LaMotta's Madison Square Garden bouts in 1947, and the 1949 bout in which LaMotta beat Marcel Cerdan by a technical knockout in Detroit to win the middleweight title.

The subcommittee said it is looking into the June 6, 1947, middleweight match in which LaMotta won a decision over Tony Janiro, and a bout on Nov. 14 the same year in which Billy Fox scored a surprising 10-round technical knockout victory over LaMotta in a light heavyweight bout.

LL Directors Meet Tonight

Circleville Little League directors are urged to attend the weekly meeting of the board at 7:30 p. m. today to discuss the admittance of a sixth team into the Babe Ruth League.

The session will be held in the Ted Lewis Park's main shelter house. All managers, parents or interested persons with a gripe, problem or question are asked to attend these weekly meetings to discuss pertinent matters.

League director, Carl Benhase, said today that no Little or Babe Ruth League game will be cancelled until 5:15 p. m. Regardless of the weather conditions, managers and their teams must report to their assigned diamonds on days of play.

If weather forces cancellation of play, the director will decide postponements. When a game is postponed, managers and teams will be notified before leaving the ball diamond as to the date of re-play.

Benhase said it is useless to phone the managers, league officials or himself about cancellations of games. No games will be cancelled until time of scheduled play.

Young Ohioan Tries Hard As Pitcher for Redleg '9'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Young Claude Osteen is plainly getting some of that "experience" that Manager Fred Hutchinson wants, but it looks as if he still can't finish a game.

The 20-year-old Reading, Ohio, southpaw had little trouble for seven innings Monday night with Cleveland's Indians in an exhibition.

But the Tribe jumped on him in the eighth and beat the Reds, 5-4.

However, since Osteen hasn't pitched more than two innings in a single game this year, the eighth inning fadeout was perhaps predictable.

For five innings he held the Indians hitless, but Woodie Held broke that up with a single in a sixth. George Strickland followed with a double, but Osteen bore down and snuffed out the threat.

Then the roof fell in. Held led off the eighth with a single, and after Strickland fanned, Barry Latman walked—the Tribe's only late Singles by former Redleg Joim

Temple, Tito Francona and Jim Piersall and a pinch double by Bubba Phillips followed and the score was tied.

Cal McLish took over, facing his old teammates, but Vic Power put down a neat bunt scoring Phillips from third with the deciding marker.

Cincinnati had tied right into the Indians' young southpaw, Mike Lee, 19. Lee Walls singled in the second, stole second by kicking the ball out of Held's glove, took third and scored on a wild pitch.

Lee walked three Redlegs in the third and another run scored on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly. Robinson repeated with a sacrifice fly in the fifth after Eddie Kasico reached second on Chuck Tanner's two-base error.

And Osteen made it 4-0 with a sixth inning triple that scored Frank House who had singled.

The Reds headed for home after the game. A three-game series with St. Louis starts tonight, with Larry Jackson due to face Jim O'Toole on the mound.

back on top Sunday when rain postponed their doubleheader with the Yankees and the Orioles lost two to Kansas City.

While the Birds and Indians play four, including a two night pair scheduled for Wednesday, the Yankees have three more left with KC.

The Yankees made it seven straight over Kansas City, five this season, behind right-hander Bob Turley and slugging Moose Skowron Monday night.

Turley, now 4-1 with his fourth straight victory, had a one-hitter and had faced the minimum 21 men until the A's broke through for all their runs in the eighth. The Yankees had finished their scoring against loser Ken Johnson (2-4) and Bob Giggie by then.

Skowron drove in four with a home run, single and sacrifice fly. The Yankees, tying Detroit for the longest streak of the season in the AL, scored three in first inning triggered by Tony Kubek's leadoff home run. Skowron homered in the third and then capped a three-run fourth by driving in two with his single. The Moose closed it out with the long fly in the sixth.

Purina, Plastic, Ward's Win in Little League Play

Ralston Purina topped The Herald in a cliffhanger. Ward's Market knocked Circleville Oil out of first place, and Lincoln Plastic handed First National Bank its third straight defeat in Little League play last night.

Purina shoved a run across in the bottom of the sixth inning last night to down a valiant fighting Herald, 8-7 for its second consecutive one-run win.

Ward's Market didn't seem to miss the loss of its first string catcher, Rodney Hedges, to The Herald, as it banged league leading Circleville Oil for 16 hits and a 17-6 victory.

Lincoln Plastic scored an 11-4 win over First National behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Pritchard and hitting of Jack White and Tom Parmar.

THE HERALD seemed on its way to its initial win this season when it came up with five runs in the second inning on two triples and a double sandwiched in between three errors.

But Purina kept nipping away at the score until it took a 7-6 margin in the fourth. The Herald tied the score in the top of the sixth on Jim Strous' double. He finally scored on an error.

An error opened the way for Purina's final inning score. Bill Hill was safe on a miscue. Jim Bowser forced Hill at second. He reached third on Phil Smith's single and scored on a passed ball.

The Herald outbait Purina, 8-5. Each team committed four errors. Doug Pontius won in relief while Strous took the loss. Danny Gibbs started for The Herald, walking two and fanning two.

Strous finished up with three walks and three strikeouts. Hill started for Purina, whiffing two. Pontius cleaned up with seven strikeouts.

Leading hitters were Purina's Gary Leasure with a triple and The Herald's Gibbs and Strous with doubles and Daryl Bass and Jim Diltz with triples.

WARD'S upset over Circleville Oil left the Jaycees all alone in first place today. The Grocers took a 2-1 initial inning lead, adding three in the second, four in the third and five in the fourth for an easy victory.

Robert Tootle garnered his second win against no defeats while Boltenhouse was the loser. Jim Hill relieved Tootle. Between the two, they fanned 10 and walked eight.

Boltenhouse and J. Funk walked seven and fanned seven. Sensational hitting was turned in by Jerry Jenkins. The 12-year-old slugger poled two home runs and three doubles in five times at the plate. Teammates, Jim Hill and Allen Gabriel, each had three hits. Limited to seven hits, Circleville Oil was led at the plate by Adam' 2 for 3 and Dale Byrd's 2 for 2. The Oilers committed four errors to Ward's none.

Plastic backed up hurler Pritchard with 10 hits to top winless First National. Only extra base hit of the contest was Tom Parmar's home run.

Pritchard fanned nine and walked 12. Loser was David Elick. He issued two free passes and struck out three. Bruce Pontius finished up walking seven and whiffing three.

Three games are on tap today. Coca Cola (1-1) faces the Elks (2-0) on the Southend Playground. Savings Bank (1-1) meets Third National (1-1) on the Little League diamond, and the Jaycees (2-0) battle Rotary (0-2) on the softball diamond. All games start at 5:15 p. m.

Four games take place tomorrow. Second National (1-1) at Lincoln Plastic (2-1) on the Little League diamond, and First National (0-3) at Jaycees (2-0) on the softball diamond. All games start at 5:15 p. m.

DuPont (1-1) meets Kiwanis (2-0) at 7:30 p. m. on the softball diamond under lights.

Senate Probe Points Finger At LaMotta

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called Jake LaMotta, former middleweight boxing champion, for quizzing today about his stormy up-and-down ring career.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, mentioned an earlier New York state investigation of "possible bribe offers to LaMotta."

Kefauver filed the statement with the subcommittee as part of the official record. He said that the underworld figures are conspiring with some big shots in the boxing promotion field to wield police protection reportedly has been arranged for LaMotta and several other witnesses.

Kefauver said assorted hoodlums and boxing figures, some of them hostile witnesses, will testify in various stages of the investigation.

He said the hearing will center on two of LaMotta's Madison Square Garden bouts in 1947, and the 1949 bout in which LaMotta beat Marcel Cerdan by a technical knockout in Detroit to win the middleweight title.

The subcommittee said it is looking into the June 6, 1947, middleweight match in which LaMotta won a decision over Tony Janiro, and a bout on Nov. 14 the same year in which Billy Fox scored a surprising 10-round technical knockout victory over LaMotta in a light heavyweight bout.

LL Directors Meet Tonight

Circleville Little League directors are urged to attend the weekly meeting of the board at 7:30 p. m. today to discuss the admittance of a sixth team into the Babe Ruth League.

The session will be held in the Ted Lewis Park's main shelter house. All managers, parents or interested persons with a gripe, problem or question are asked to attend these weekly meetings to discuss pertinent matters.

League director, Carl Benhase, said today that no Little or Babe Ruth League game will be cancelled until 5:15 p. m. Regardless of the weather conditions, managers and their teams must report to their assigned diamonds on days of play.

If weather forces cancellation of play, the director will decide postponements. When a game is postponed, managers and teams will be notified before leaving the ball diamond as to the date of re-play.

Benhase said it is useless to phone the managers, league officials or himself about cancellations of games. No games will be cancelled until time of scheduled play.

Young Ohioan Tries Hard As Pitcher for Redleg '9'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Claude Osteen is plainly getting some of that "experience" that Manager Fred Hutchinson wants, but it looks as if he still can't finish a game.

The 20-year-old Reading, Ohio, southpaw had little trouble for seven innings Monday night with Cleveland's Indians in an exhibition.

But the Tribe jumped on him in the eighth and beat the Reds, 3-4.

However, since Osteen hasn't pitched more than two innings in a single game this year, the eighth inning fadeout was perhaps predictable.

For five innings he held the Indians hitless, but Woodie Held broke that up with a single in the sixth. George Strickland followed with a double, but Osteen bore down and snuffed out the threat.

Then the roof fell in. Held led off the eighth with a single, and after Strickland fanned, Barry Latman walked—the Tribe's only pass. Singles by former Redleg John Temple, Tito Francona and Jim Piersall and a pinch double by Bubba Phillips followed and the score was tied.

Cal McLish took over, facing his old teammates, but Vic Power put down a neat bunt scoring Phillips from third with the deciding marker.

Cincinnati had tied right into the Indians' young southpaw, Mike Lee, 19. Lee Wallis singled in the second, stole second by kicking the ball out of Held's glove, took third and scored on a wild pitch.

Lee walked three Redlegs in the third and another run scored on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly. Robinson repeated with a sacrifice fly in the fifth after Eddie Kasko reached second on Chuck Tanner's two-base error.

And Osteen made it 4-0 with a sixth inning triple that scored Frank House who had singled.

The Reds headed for home after the game. A three-game series with St. Louis starts tonight, with Larry Jackson due to face Jim O'Toole on the mound.

Gates Denies Ike Insulated From Facts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. has denied charges that the National Security Council is insulating President Eisenhower from so-called "hard facts" and "hard decisions."

The President himself makes the decision," Gates told a Senate study group. He said he can't understand how the other versions got started.

The subcommittee on federal policy-making machinery is exploring the government's procedures for setting foreign policy and defense policy, against the background of the U2 spy plane incident.

Gates later testified behind closed doors about the U2. But Chairman Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) ruled that not even a censored transcript of what Gates said about the spy plane would be made public.

Gates said Eisenhower participated actively in all secret NSC meetings at which he said "the pros and cons of any issue are thorough and ably debated."

The NSC, which includes top government officials to advise the President on national security matters, functions smoothly as a team, he said.

In a prepared statement and question and answer testimony, Gates said the Defense Department has "a sound basis of organization" and is flexible enough to do its job. He said he could recommend no changes in the law under which it gets its authority.

Father's 'Sins' May Be Held Against Beauty

HONG KONG (AP)—Miss Hong Kong may be barred from a U.S. beauty contest because of her father's politics, it developed today.

Miss Vivien Cheung, 20, a secretarial student was crowned Miss Hong Kong Saturday night. Victory entitles her to compete with 55 other international beauties in the Miss Universe beauty pageant to be held at Miami Beach July 3-10.

Miss Cheung's father, Chung Yi, is a star actor and executive of Hong Kong's Cheung Lien Motion Picture Corp., which is on U. S. Treasury Department's list of "foreign-designated nationals."

Listing means Washington considers the company and its employees are "substantially controlled" by Far Eastern Communist interests. American nationals who conduct any business with them are subject to fine and imprisonment.

A U.S. consular official said: "Of course the sins of a father are not imputable to the children but the fact Miss Cheung's father was connected with a company which was blocklisted under both foreign assets control and trading with the enemy the act means we will now have to examine her very, very carefully."

Higgins Holds Hope for Bosox

DETROIT (AP)—Mike Higgins reached for the reins of the Boston Red Sox again today and indicated his Dallas home to come back as American League cellar.

Asked whether he thought the club was a last-place team — and that's where it is after losing 25 of its last 32 starts — Higgins replied:

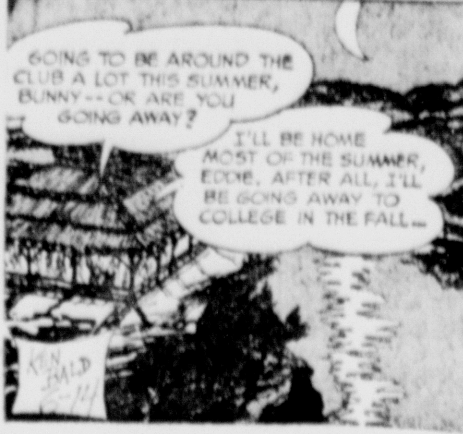

"I wouldn't think so. I certainly wouldn't think so."

He fended off questions about specific weaknesses or plans, however, saying "I haven't seen the team. I'll tell you about that in a couple of weeks."

Higgins, replaced "with regret" last July 4, agreed Sunday from his Dallas home to come back as manager.

He replaces Billy Jurges, released June 10 after being given a temporary leave following a doctor's examination.

Woman's Suicide Doubt; Man Held

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Kenneth Ferguson, 34, was charged with second-degree murder today. Authorities rejected his statement that his wife, Eula Mae, 45, had committed suicide.

Ferguson drove to the police station with his wife early this morning. She was pronounced dead at a hospital.

Dr. Garrett Boone, Butler County coroner, said Mrs. Ferguson could not have shot herself. A bullet had been fired into her upper left arm. Boone then charged Ferguson with second-degree murder.

Ferguson said he was a welding supply salesman and that he and his wife lived in their station wagon.

Symington Aides Seek Ohio Backing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two representatives of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) say they want to talk to Ohio's delegates to the Democratic national convention about swinging to Symington if Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts fails to get the presidential nomination.

The two, Edwin C. Houx, president of Peoples National Bank, Warrensburg, Mo., and John D. Hasler, St. Louis attorney, told Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Monday they are not trying to convince Ohio delegates to desert Kennedy. They said they merely hope to gain second choice strength for Symington.

Specifically, the Symington men wanted to know if DiSalle, as favorite son head of the Ohio delegation, had any objections to their talking to the Ohio delegates who are pledged to support Kennedy.

DiSalle told the pair he is making no effort to keep his delegates from discussing the presidential candidacies of Symington and Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.).

The Columbus Dispatch said representatives promoting Johnson's candidacy were in Ohio last week talking to delegates, although not to DiSalle.

The governor said he talked to Kennedy by telephone over the weekend and made tentative arrangements for the senator to campaign in Ohio for two days shortly after the national convention next month.

High Court Sidesteps Rule In Union Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today sidestepped an outright ruling on whether benefits paid by unions to striking workers are free from federal income taxes.

But by a 6-3 vote the court upheld the verdict of a federal court jury in Wisconsin that benefits paid a striking Kohler Co. worker were a gift not subject to federal tax.

Justice Brennan, writing the court's main opinion, said "The jury in this case, as finder of the facts, acted within its competence in concluding that the assistance rendered here (to the striker) was a gift."

The court majority stressed, however, that it was expressing no opinion as to a 1957 contention of the commissioner of internal revenue that strike benefits paid on the basis of need, without regard to union membership, were to be regarded as part of the worker's gross income and taxable.

Justice Whitaker dissented in an opinion in which Justices Harlan and Stewart joined.

The dissenters said they were convinced that the evidence compelled the conclusion that the strike benefits were not gifts and that they were subject to federal income tax.

2 High Legal Aides Flunk Bar Exam

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Buckeye Boys State, the week-long school in self-government for 1,171 young Ohioans, has a touchy problem on its hands.

Two unnamed high officials in the legal or judicial fields failed to pass the bar examination after their election.

The bar association says the two will be given another chance to pass the test, but if they don't, "new officers probably will be chosen."

Of the 185 Boys State citizens who did pass the test, perfect scores were turned in by Kenneth Webber of Fowler and Scott Fenstermaker of Warren.

The Nationalist Party, which won five of the six top state offices, holds control in the Senate by a 28-18 margin. But in the House, the Federalist have a 31-41 majority. Linus Upson III of Dayton was elected House speaker.

Boys State Gov. James E. White of Columbus appointed his defeated opponent, Curt Freed of Euclid, to his cabinet as commerce director.

Other appointments include: Highway director—James Roderiger, Ludlow Falls, who lost out for lieutenant governor.

Public works chief — William Baughman, Elyria, the only losing Nationalist nominee seeking a top state office.

Natural resources director — Richard Croy, Marietta, who was defeated for state treasurer.

Agriculture director — Kenneth Miller, Batavia; health director — William Dray, Cortland; industrial relations director — William Lawson, Cincinnati; tax commissioner — William Heim, Sandusky, mental hygiene and correction director — Carl Angelo, Warren; highway safety director — John Lautenschlager, Elyria; highway patrol superintendent — Dow Fowler, Columbus; patrol captain — John Travis, Bluffton.

State Highway Safety Aide Ponders Holiday Road Tolls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If most national holidays fell on Monday each year, the traffic accident toll probably wouldn't be affected seriously, Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys says.

The suggestion has been made from time to time that holidays like the Fourth of July—which falls on a Monday this year, anyway—be made to fall on, say, "the first Monday in July," rather than on a specific date. Thus, it is reasoned, the public would have the benefit of several three-day weekends during the year.

But it's also been suggested that the traffic toll might mount because more travel would be stimulated on such lengthened holiday periods.

Keys said, however, that the threat always is present, especially during the warm weather season in Ohio, and that "safety efforts can't possibly hit a peak every weekend."

Such long weekends probably would benefit individuals, save business the expense of extra opening on Monday and then closing for a holiday that falls on Tuesday, and have other advantages, the director suggested.

They probably would be no more or less safe than other weekends, because the problem in the long run boils down to the attitude of the individual motorist, Keys went on.

"Last July 4 we had an all-out safety campaign," he pointed out. "Although predictions called for 22 deaths on Ohio highways, there were half that many. But the next weekend, when there was no all-out campaign, 34 persons died in two days."

Contending that "highways and vehicles are far ahead of driver behavior in many cases," Keys emphasized again that his department is working on a long range program to halt Ohio's traffic slaughter. But he repeated that it will not be effective unless the motoring public cares enough to make it effective.

New statewide requirements for a written examination and eye test before obtaining a temporary "learning driver" permit are the first step in the department's broad program, he said. The new requirements went into effect across the state a week ago.
